My Favorite Proverbs: Our Omnipotent God

By: Glenn Colley

"The eyes of the Lord are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good" (Prov. 15:3).

Think of the magnitude of this. Our Father sees the child that sleeps, the sparrow that falls, the young bride and groom as they stutter out their vows before family and friends, the farmer with his plow, the builder with his blueprints, the ravages and cruelty of war, the desperation of a pandemic that has kept people down too long, the sadness of the new grave, the thief who walks out without paying, the alcoholic who unseals the next bottle, the shameful husband who slyly deceives his wife to carry on a sinful relationship with another woman, and the men and women who work everyday to "let the words of their mouths and the meditations of their hearts be acceptable to God, their strength and Redeemer" (Psalm 19:14).

Solomon was only one among several who were inspired to describe this quality of God:

"All the ways of a man are pure in his own eyes,

But the Lord weighs the spirits" (Prov. 16:2)

"Every way of a man is right in his own eyes,

But the Lord weighs the hearts." (Prov. 21:1)

"Where can I go from Your Spirit? Or where can I flee from Your presence?

If I ascend into heaven, You are there; If I make my bed in hell, behold, You are there.

If I take the wings of the morning, And dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea,

Even there Your hand shall lead me, And Your right hand shall hold me" (Psa. 139:7-10).

"So that they should seek the Lord, in the hope that they might grope for Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us; for in Him we live and move and have our being, as also some of your own poets have said, 'For we are also His offspring'" (Acts 17:27-28).

I remember a small boy who was scolded by his mother for telling a lie. He hid in the garage and when his mother found him she asked why he was hiding. He tilted his head and said, "I'm hiding from God." Whether a small child or a most studied and clever atheist, no-one successfully hides from our God.

A troubled man once said to Gus Nichols, a great preacher of the past, "I don't believe God hears me when I pray."

Brother Nichols said, "Alright, I'll tell you what: We'll walk together out into this nearby field tonight and you shake your fist at heaven and curse God."

The man couldn't believe his ears. "Brother Nichols, I would NEVER think of doing such a thing!"

The wise Nichols then asked, "Do you mean to tell me you believe God hears you when you curse but not when you pray?"

Today, spend time in serious meditation on these deep words: "The eyes of the Lord are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good," and dedicate yourself to live in such a way that you find them to be a great blessing in your life and never a curse.
